Aggrey Klaaste

Klaaste (6/01/1940-19/06/2004) was a newspaper Journalist and Editor. In 1960, Klaaste graduated with a BA degree from Wits University. After graduating he became a journalist, first with Drum magazine and subsequently with The World (which was banned by the SA government in 1977) and The Post (which became the Sowetan in 1981).

He was Editor of the Sowetan from 1988 to 2002. He introduced the concept of "nation building" and spent much of his time and energy promoting the idea.
